Manifesto

Manifesto

The possibilities for progress are all around us, especially in today's technological age. The challenge is bringing them closer to reality.

We are Nearing, and we bring communities closer to their full potential by engineering integrated solutions for critical infrastructure and connected living.

We enable progress everywhere by designing, installing, maintaining and improving the foundations and connections of our global modern life. For over 45 years, we have been leading the digital and energy transition, making people's lives better:

- From remote villages to bustling cities;
- From the first internet access to the ultimate smart grid technology;
- From renewable power plants to electricity distribution networks;
- From local action to global positive impact.

We champion faster, fairer, more integrated and sustainable development for a tomorrow where no one is left behind.

Engineering
a closer future.
